The New Building:

Its Special Areas And Facilities

The New Building will provide services and facilities which will enable the Synagogue program to function with a dignity and efficiency not previously possible. This article will deal with those facilities relating to the religious program of the Synagogue. It will be followed next month by a discussion of the educational facilities, and, finally, in February, by an article on the social facilities available in the building.

Arrival on the Second Floor by means of the new front elevator is a most dramatic event. The elevator opens onto the Mezzanine area of the second floor which is like a bridge crossing the Great Hall. From it, one has a long view of the Hall from the Loggia Entrance on the West to the Sanctuary Entrance on the East. The Mezzanine is flanked by glass vitrines, or showcases, for the display of the precious objects belonging to the Synagogue. These two sided cases form the balustrades of the Mezzanine on the right and on the left. The North side of the Mezzanine looks out through a large window onto 87 Street.

— Reading and Learning Center —

A right turn from the Mezzanine takes one out of the vaulted area of the Great Hall and into a small lounge and exhibition area which precedes the entrance to the Reading and Learning Center. A portion of the North side of the lounge forms a balcony, or interior loggia, from which one may again look out into the Great Hall.

The Reading and Learning Center fulfills another of the traditional functions of the temple, since, in many societies, all of the knowledge accumulated by a civilization found its repository in their temples, and these were the original seats of learning. Consequently, it is most fitting that the Reading and Learning Center is placed where it is accessible to the congregation, as well as to the school. The second floor location is excellent, since it is easily reached from the street level or from the grade school located on the third floor as well as the high school which is located on the fourth. It is also immediately adjacent to the Rabbis' Office Suite.

SYNAGOGUE LEADERS SUPPORT CHALLENGE FUND GRANT

Yom Kippur Appeal by Rabbi Nadich Produces More Than 100 New Pledges For Building Fund

The new $333,000 Challenge Fund Grant announced at the Yom Kippur Services produced more than one hundred new pledges for the Building Fund, George Shapiro reported to the last meeting of the Board of Directors. Under the terms of the Grant, the Anonymous Benefactor will match every new gift for the Building Fund by a 50% add-on. Thus, if the Synagogue raises $666,000 in new pledges, the Anonymous Benefactor will contribute $333,000, producing one million dollars for the Building Fund this year.

Hanukkah

This year, Hanukkah begins on Friday evening, December 14 and lasts through Saturday, December 22. The eight days of this holiday commemorate two miracles: the victory of a small group of Jews over the Syrian Greeks during the second century BCE, and the miracle of a small cruse of oil which was found in the Temple, and which burned for eight days instead of one. The two miracles were, of course, one, for there are times when victory on the battlefield results in a miraculous outpouring of light. There are times when the few stand up to the many who seek to cast darkness on all human beings. What a blessing it is, then, to see light shed for good.

Jews throughout the world kindle the Hanukkah Menorah, a candelabrum of eight separate lights plus a shamash. You see, in order to spread light and to publicize great miracles there is the need for a bit of help. That is the job of the shamash.

The Menorah must be placed for the public to see, if at all possible. For there are so many in the world who are unwilling to recognize the power of right, of spirit, of light to overcome darkness, that for eight days it is important to impress upon all human beings that this power is alive. Many are easily overcome with despair. Many, in the midst of the cold and the darkness of the winter, can never imagine that there will yet come a Spring. And many, who have experienced sadness, need the help of others to be inspired with hope.

Hanukkah is a wonderful celebration for Jews. It expresses ideas which are basic to our faith, through the lighting of lights in every Jewish home. For that purpose, be sure to obtain a Menorah. Your children may even wish to light their own, and that is to be encouraged. For each one of us should know the experience of bringing light into darkness and of inspiring each other with hope.

Spring Trip For Families Offered By High School

A two week family camping trip to the Sinai and Judean deserts, leaving New York March 24, 1980, for families with children aged 10 and over is being offered by the High School. One Shabbat and the last days of Passover will be spent in Jerusalem. The highlight of this unique experience will be a Passover Seder held in the Sinai, the site of the original Passover story.

The origin of the idea for such a trip was the many inquiries that have been made of the school for different types of Israel experiences. The powerful beauty of the desert is one of the highpoints of the teenage Israel travel program each summer and one which is often missed by adult groups and individuals travelling in Israel. The demands that such a rugged trip will make upon each participant will give families the opportunity to learn and grow together in a very special way.

The trip is being made possible by a major grant from the Fund for Jewish Education of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruss. Limited scholarships are available and details will be sent to parents of the school within the next few weeks. The anticipated cost for adult participation is $1300. Children will receive reductions for airfare and hotels making their cost substantially less. Participants will be accepted on a first come, first served basis.

As this may be one of the last opportunities for some time to visit the magnificent Sinai desert, we urge you to consider making this opportunity your spring vacation plan this year.

"Jews From Arab Lands" Discussion Topic At Sisterhood Meeting Dec. 11

The assistant to the Consul for Academic Affairs in the office of the Consulate General of Israel in New York, Mrs. Esther Webman, will discuss "Jews From Arab Lands" at the next open meeting of Sisterhood, Tuesday, December 11 at 1 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Webman, through her background, education and personal experience brings a new dimension to her topic. Born in Cairo, Egypt, she immigrated to Israel in 1954. She received her A.B. degree from the Hebrew University in Middle Eastern Studies and Political Science; her M.A. degree from Tel Aviv University. For 6 years she headed the Sudanese and Libyan desks at the Shiloah Research Center.

In 1976 she, with her husband, came to the United States and a year later, in 1977, she assumed the position she holds today.

Her talk will be followed by a question-and-answer period and a social hour. Refreshments will be served.

GILLMAN AND BRANN TO TEACH COURSES IN JANUARY

Have you ever wondered while running through Central Park — or watching others run — whether Judaism has a point of view on jogging? Do Jews believe "You are what you eat"? And What does Judaism have to say about sex?

To find the answer to these and other questions, don't miss Dr. Neil Gillman's course: "Judaism and the Body" which begins on Wednesday, January 9 and continues for five weeks. Dr. Gillman is Dean of Academic Affairs in the Rabbinical School of the Jewish Theological Seminary and a very popular lecturer.

On Thursday, January 3 at 8 P.M., Mr. Ross Brann will begin teaching an eight week course on "Jews and Judaism Under the Orbit of Islam." The world of Islam is, today, once again on people's minds. And, since there were times in the past when Jews living under Islam left a legacy of some of the finest creations in the history of our people, it is timely to see how that cultural synthesis was achieved.

Ross Brann, who teaches in our High School Department and is an Instructor in the Department of Near Eastern Languages and Literatures at New York University, has been a favorite among our students for years. Join him to learn about this important chapter of the past which has great relevance for today.

Mr. and Mrs. Club To Hear Book Review

Sophie's Choice, the controversial best seller by William Styron, will be reviewed by Hadassah Gold at the Open Meeting of the Mr. and Mrs. Club, Tuesday, December 18 at 8:15 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Gold, a Vice-President/Coordinator for Program for the New York Chapter of Hadassah, worked, for many years, in the Religious Book Department of Harper & Row, Publishers. She is now a free lance editor and proofreader for many of the large publishing firms in the city.

A graduate of Hunter College, she served as president of the Hunter College Alumni Association and is now a Vice-President of that organization.

In 1978, she was elected to the Hunter College Hall of Fame, a signal honor.

Refreshments will be served; the entire congregation is cordially invited to attend.

Become Synagogue Angel Join The Patrons Club

Abraham I. Sherr, President of the Congregation and Chairman of the Patrons Club, has announced the appointment of Barry Alperin and Ira Lee as Co-Chairmen to lead the annual appeal for contributions to the Patrons Club.

The Patrons Club was organized in 1973 to raise the operating funds necessary for the Synagogue to maintain the high standards of excellence in the education of children as well as to support the broad array of services provided our members.

Mr. Sherr said: "I am delighted to have the assistance of Barry Alperin and Ira Lee. It is essential that our Synagogue have widespread support in the form of voluntary contributions. We hope that the members who can afford to give, will do so and support the Patrons Club. Our Synagogue is one of the few Synagogues in the area which does not have a Yom Kippur Appeal for operating funds. The Patrons Club is our substitute. Without the Patrons Club it would be difficult, if not impossible, to carry on many essential services. Please help now!"

Members may become Patrons with a donation of $1000, or more; Donors contribute $250, or more, annually. In the January issue of the Bulletin, the roster of Patrons and Donors for 1979-80 will be published. Join today by returning the form below with your check.

The New Building: Its Special Areas And Facilities

The Reading and Learning Center will provide shelf space for at least ten thousand volumes. It will have the character of a traditional library with wood paneled walls and cases, with a seating capacity for thirty to fifty patrons, or students, at small tables. The room will be divided into two parts partially separated by book cases to provide privacy and flexibility so that individual and group study can take place simultaneously.

— Rabbis' Offices —

It seems to me appropriate that the Rabbis' Office Suite should also be in close proximity to the Reading and Learning Center, since the rabbis are the teachers and spiritual leaders of the congregation. Their direct association with the Center might tend to increase its worth and utilization. Consequently, the office suite for the Rabbi and Assistant Rabbi will be immediately to the West of the Reading and Learning Center and the windows of their suite will front along Madison Avenue. The Rabbis' Suite will be approached from the Mezzanine through the same lounge and exhibition area fronting the Reading and Learning Center. It will consist of a reception area with seating, stations for two secretaries with support facilities, storage and filing space. The reception area will have separate access into each of the two rabbis' offices. The offices will each consist of a book lined study alcove, desk and work space and a seating area for formal or informal conferences.

From the lounge space in front of the Reading and Learning Center it will be possible to walk East into a corridor which runs North and South and corresponds to the South portion of the present second floor corridor of the Milton Steinberg House. It will also be possible to arrive at the front of this corridor by means of the present elevator, except that in leaving the elevator, one will again look out into the Great Hall from an interior loggia which will be the north end of the corridor. This area will also provide space for exhibition material relating to the music program of the Synagogue. This area will give access into the Cantors' Studies and the David J. Putterman Music Center.

— David J. Putterman Music Center —

The Library for Music Manuscripts will be a room of dignity. The walls will be lined with wood cabinets for manuscript storage and will contain the many important collections of music in the possession of the Synagogue. The room will be sound-insulated from its surroundings, as will the Cantor's Study, the Assistant Cantor's Study and Bar Mitzvah Practice Room, which are adjacent to it. The sound insulation will make it possible for all of these areas to be used simultaneously for practice and rehearsal without outside interference, or interference between one another. It will also be possible to use the Library for recording sessions.

The Music Program in the new building will be extensively improved by the addition of these physical spaces, but it will also be greatly enriched by the sound system which will be installed in the new building and extended from it into the Lemberg Auditorium. The new system centers upon the services in the present Sanctuary and the ability to pipe these services into the new Appleman Chapel, the new Hall of Worship, the Lemberg Auditorium and, hopefully, even into the Great Hall. The sound reproduction will be of excellent quality and fidelity. A central monitoring and recording console will be located behind the bima in the Main Sanctuary. There also will be satellite stations for recording in the other locations where services will be held. There will be a central storage, or archive, for the library of recordings already produced by the Synagogue with sufficient capacity to hold the recordings of many future years' services. This room will be located on the third floor of the new building.

The temperature and humidity of the room will be controlled to minimize deterioration of the recorded material. There also will be a work space in the room for the duplication and editing of recordings.

— The Brides Room —

Finally, there will be a new Brides Room fit for a bride. It will be a very feminine, jewel-like room with satin sofas, velvet carpet and damask covered walls. The room will contribute everything possible for the comfort and convenience of the bride, her attendants and family. In fact, the room is actually a small suite consisting of a reception room or parlor, fifteen feet by fifteen feet, providing comfortable seating for as many as ten people. The room will appear intimate, however, since it will be covered by a shallow vault which will conceal the lights washing the damask walls. The lights will be on dimmers so that the apparent size of the room can be changed to fit the occasion. The reception room will open into a dressing room which will be equipped with a vanity table, closet and full length three-sided mirrored alcove. The dressing room will open, in turn, into a private lavatory.

The Brides Room is located on the second floor very close to the present elevator in the Milton Steinberg House. It will make it possible for the bride to move quickly and discretely from the Brides Room to the Main Floor leading to the Main Sanctuary, or Appleman Chapel, or to the Lower Level and the Sisterhood Lounge, Banquet Room and Lemberg Auditorium.

Dealing With Death Topic For Discussion At W.E.G. Meeting Dec. 10

The psychological and religious aspects of "Dealing With Death" will serve as the basis for discussion at the next open meeting of the Women's Evening Group, Monday, December 10, at 8:15 P.M. in the Library.
